Friend or Fiend? Ch 9-10 Analysis

1. Analyze the creature's personality after his meeting with Victor in the mountains:
 - In what ways is he like any human being? In what ways is he different?
 - What do his diction and voice reveal about his character?
 - Does he have the potential for good as well as evil? Which is more likely?
 - Do you think he did kill William? Is he a creature or a monster?
2. Speculate about what his story will reveal in the coming chapters. #bricolage

BLAME GAME!

- Who do you think shares the responsibility for William and Justine's death?
 - As a table group, create two pie charts attributing and justifying specific percentages of responsibility for the death of William and Justine's execution—blame only fictional characters and societal structures.
 - Use quotations from chapters 1-10 in Frankenstein to justify each percentage.
